PADUCAH, KENTUCKY TUESDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 12 1899.

10 CENTS A WEEK

INAUGURATED

Gov-Elect Taylor Was Regularly Inducted Into Office at High Noon Today.

A BIG CROWD WAS PRESENT

Retiring Gov. Bradley Makes a Talk in Defense of His Administration.

TAYLOR THANKS THE PEOPLE

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 12.—Governor-elect W. S. Taylor was inaugurated today in the presence of a large crowd which had gathered despite the pouring rain of the past three days and the unfavorable weather of last night which was followed by a threatened today. The ceremonies were simple, in respect to Governor Taylor's wishes. After a creditable parade, music and other accessories, retiring Governor Bradley spoke, Governor Taylor followed, and then there was music, prayer, etc. It was an enthusiastic occasion. The Governor was conspicuous by his absence, though not even reaching behind to congratulate Governor Taylor. A reception is being held this afternoon, and there is to be a big ball tonight. People are arriving to every train this afternoon to attend the ball.

Governor Bradley spoke of some length in defense of his administration, saying he had the approval of his own conscience, though he had had many ups and downs. He wished an easier official life for Mr. Taylor, and he also urged the repeal of the bonded law.

Navigation Opens.
Thursday Will See All the Packets Resuming in the Rivers.

Navigation will be resumed in the Ohio, Tennessee and Cumberland rivers Thursday morning after a suspension of four or five months.

The two boats and John S. Hopkins will resume their runs to Evansville, and the Duck Taylor to Cairo, while the Cumberland river boats will start for Nashville again and the Tennessee river boats will begin their regular trips.

There are millions of cross ties up the rivers to be brought down, as well as many hundred thousand feet of lumber.

Three men are enjoying because of the river, which is now quite high, and promises to remain so until next winter.

WILL CONTEST.

Defeated Democrats Served Notices on Republican-Elect.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 12.—The defeated Democratic candidates for state offices today served the new governor with notices of contest.

GEORGE DENNIS INDICTED.

Two Boys May Go to the Pen-Ed Lindsey Also Indicted.

The grand jury brought in two indictments yesterday afternoon. Geo.
Dennis and Fredo Merritt charged with breaking into the market house and stealing Market Master Smith's overcoat, were indicted for house breaking.

Ed Lindsey, of Marshall county, charged with robbing a man named Woodruff, of Union county, of $75, was indicted for robbery.

The warrant against Ed Lindsey was dismissed at the instance of County Attorney W. P. Bradshaw, unless a very important missing witness can be found.

The indictment against George Dennis, for cow stealing, was dismissed and recommitment to the grand jury.
The case against Lindsey was set for trial the fifteenth day of the term.
Henry Bradshaw, colored, held over in Spitzer Hyatt's case several weeks ago on a charge of killing Will King, colored, in the Maxon Mill section, was yesterday released by order of the grand jury, no information having been found. King was found dead and Bradshaw claimed he shot him accidentally, and so it developed.

A case against Will Jackson, colored, for taking jewelry from Charlotte Harris, was dismissed.

The grand jury will this afternoon hear report a batch of indictments for gaming, keeping open saloons on Sundays and for other offenses.

LA RUE LAUGHS

He Does Not Care If He Is Indicted By the Grand Jury.

He Thinks He Knows Something About the Whys and Wherefores.

United States Deputy Marshal LaRue was in a smiling humor when a representative of the Sun called on him yesterday. He did not look like a man that the grand jury was after and he said:

"Yes, I heard an effort was being made to secure evidence against me by the grand jury," he said. "But no matter. I do not intend to do anything. I had my eye on the indictment at conviction under the instructions of the court there, but have no fear there either. I want there present instructions, and did not even have a pistol with me, although being armed to the teeth. The new law arrested me and warrants for me, and did not attempt to frighten anyone, and attended strictly to our own business."

"In Paducah I was not on registration day with the other members of the Republican campaign committee most of us in huggies, and that is all there is to it. I used up force or information and don't have any trouble anywhere, here I know that if an indictment is found, it will not last long."

It is very likely, however, that it will not be hard to guess where the effort to indict the deputy U. S. marshal originated, nor who has been pushing it. People in certain circles seem to think that Deputy Marshal LaRue has something to do with having Mr. Lige Updike, of the county, indicted by the federal grand jury at Louisville for alleged attempted induction in the county.

Some of the Republicans were even approached and it has been suggested to them that if matters were pushed, some good Republicans as well as Democrats might wear stripes. To this the Republicans have replied that if a man violates a law he subjects himself to the penalty, and have cordially invited the Democrats to lead all the Republicans they can find up before the bar of justice and if they have violated any part of the election law to have them punished.
This far no one has been found, nor is any probable to be. Nor is it thought that much consideration would be shown them by the unanimous politicians on the other side, if they were.

It was reported this morning on seemingly good authority that the grand jury will in a few days bring indictments against several local politicians for alleged election irregularities. No apprehension is felt, however.

NO TEACHERS RESIGN.

County School Superintendent James W. Hughes says that the state might in a temporary that several of the county teachers had resigned was untrue. Not a teacher has resigned. It is generally reported that four or five of them are to marry about Christmas, but if they are they have said nothing about giving up their positions.

WAS COMPLETE

The Attack of Gettare's Men at Stornberg Brought His Disastrous Defeat.

MANY PRISONERS TAKEN

Firing at Modder River Indicated
Big Battle in Progress Yesterday.

ENGLISH HEARING SAD NEWS

LONDON, Dec. 12.—There is no news from South Africa of a nature to divert attention from Gettare's disaster received thus far today. It is now feared the war office is suppressing later reports from Gettare which would reveal the facts. His column after defeat ran to Mafeking, leaving cannon behind. It is settled that six hundred or more prisoners are in the hands of the Boers, these being taken simply because they were less fit than their comrades.
This seems to explain the few casualties and the many prisoners.

LORENZO, Maricao, Dec. 12.— The Boer account of the British defeat at Stornberg says General Gottlieb, commander-in-chief of the free state forces, was in command of the Boers.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—A Cape Town dispatch says heavy firing was heard all day yesterday in the direction of Modder river. A fight there was believed to be in progress.

PORTHURST, Dec. 12.—Col. Plimmer's force from Bloemfontein, on their way to the relief of Mafeking, has reached Dale one day.

CAPE TOWN, Dec. 12.—The transport Lupton is again here, but not in a dangerous position.

LOS PALMAS, Canary Islands, Dec.
12.—The British transport Stornberg is again here. Vessel in a bad position.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—No further news has been received to remove the mystery surrounding Gen. Gettare's retreat from Stornberg. He has not forwarded the promised additional message.

WAGON WORKS BOUGHT.

Ferrell Brothers to Make Wagons for Their Circuit.

Ferrell Brothers have bought out the Hothe Wagon factory, on Lower Jefferson street, and will begin at once the manufacture of wagons for their circuit and will west show, which they expect to put on the road next spring.

Many new wagons will be bought, and they will make full charge until the 15th inst. They are preparing to put in an extra force of men.

THAT VAUDEVILLE SHOW.

It is probable that the "Vande-ville" show a gentleman named Phillips desires to start in Paducah will not be started. It is thought extremely likely that the character of the show might prove such that the town would suffer from a moral point of view that could not be long atoned. At any rate the committee appointed by the council to confer with Mr. Phillips reported simply that it had no recommendations to make, but called attention to the fact that there was no law to go by. If Mr. Phillips desires to start a show here, and desires to conform to the law, he has no occasion to call on the council for approval. Mr. Phillips was here some time ago as a partner in the May's opera house.

AFTER THE TRUSTS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—A sweeping anti-trust bill will be introduced in the house by Bailey, Democrat, of New Jersey. It will authorize any ten men or more to testify to the disfranchisement of a trust, and the trust must then proceed to investigate the charge. If well founded must then certify the fact to the president of the United States, who shall then place on the free list such articles of manufacture as may be controlled by the trust in question.

IS BETTER.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The generation of Lieutenant Hunsley shows some improvement this morning.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

Cloudy and colder tonight and Wednesday.

ABANDONED CHILD.

Mother Under Arrest in Kuttawa
For Her Cruel Act.

Lizzie McQuigg, living near Kuttawa, Ky., was arrested yesterday by Marshal McQuinn charged with deserting her six-week-old infantile child, which was found by Watts Hammon, a farmer, east of town early Saturday night. The child had been placed in a cotton bag and left in a lot where Mr. Hammon kept a drove of hogs. When brought to County Attorney Molloy's law office last night, Miss McQuigg admitted that the child belonged to her, but refused to divulge the name of the father. She said that her 19-year-old brother William had taken the child to Mr. Hammon's farm. He was arrested later.

The affair has created quite a sensation.

CORLEY HELD

The Evidence Against Him Was Very Ugly in Police Court.

The $300 Recognizance Against Him Forfeited—He Went to Jail.

The evidence in the case against Thomas Corley, who attempted to kill his wife, was heard by Judge Sandies this morning in the police court, and developed a very ugly case, as detailed in The Sun yesterday.

Corley, it will be recalled, attempted to cut his wife's throat with a new knife he had sharpened specifically for the occasion. He went to the house three different times.
It appears he desired to kill her before he lived with him.

He was held over for grand jury action this morning on a charge of beating into the house with the intention to commit a felony, which is a penitentiary offense. In addition to this, the $300 recognizance in which he was held to be of good behavior toward his wife, was declared forfeited, and should be got out of the two felony charges against him in the grand court, one for shooting J. Jackson at Stiles and the other for beating into his wife's house with the intention of killing her, he will have to pay the $300 forfeiture or go to jail for 150 days, and the latter would be his only choice.

J. L. King was fined $1 and costs for drunkenness.

WANTS IT DISMISSED.

Old Druggist's Friends Trying to Get Him Out of Trouble.

Friends of Cliff Druggist, of the Clark's River section, are trying to get a warrant against him in Justice Little's court for hog standing dismissed.

A man named Sulzer came to the city a few days ago and swore out a warrant against Druggist, charging him with stealing two of hogs by killing them and disposing of them.

Druggist has not yet been arrested.
A young man claiming to be his friend, however, called on Justice Little today and said he had been believed the grand jury and had the charge dismissed, and wanted Justice Little to dismiss it also. He said he had proof that the hogs died, and it didn't need much proof, but that the question was how they came to die. He declined to dismiss the warrant, saying that the accused would have to be brought into court and regularly tried.

QUAY MAY FAIL YET.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Friends of Mr. Quay are not so confident as they were a few weeks ago. Mr.
Quay's colleague, Senator Penrose, asserted before the opening of congress that sixty of the eighty-six senators were pledged to vote for Mr. Quay, and therefore nothing was left of the fight but the victorious shouting. The number of reported Quay pledges has now diminished, however, to forty-six, according to the nationals of the quay following. This still would leave a safe Quay majority, but it comes under the head of the "ifs" of politics, which the best journalists are inclined to label, "important, if true." Quay's antagonists, it should be explained, discredit the estimates and alleged senatorial polls which show that Mr. Quay will be defeated.

CONDITION CRITICAL.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—It was said this morning that President Gompers, of the Federation of Labor, injured last week in a bicycle accident, is in a critical condition.

Where Did You

style you probably got it here. We

DECLARED VALID

The Ohio County Local Option Election Was Legal.

The Court of Appeals Decision Has Been Falsely Reported Heretofore.

court of appeals in the Ohio county case held unanimously that the election was valid. The appeal involves the validity of an election held in the town of Hartford under the "local option" law. One of the grounds of contest is that the election is void because it was not conducted by secret official ballot, but was openly conducted, it being claimed that the ballots used were not sufficiently thick to prevent them being distinguished from the back; that is, they were so thin that when voted it could be easily ascertained by looking at the back of the ballot thus voted whether a voter had cast his vote for or against the proposition.

The questions to be considered on this ground of contest are:

First—If the ballots used were of the character alleged should they render invalid the election?

Second—Does the evidence sustain the claim of contestants that the ballots were so thin that it could be easily ascertained by looking at the back of ballot voted whether the voter cast his vote for or against the proposition?

Judge Paynter discussed the first point at great length, in an opinion dealing purely with a hypothetical case. In other words, it is purely "chatter" dictum.

As to the second point, the thinness of the ballots, it was deemed that they fully met the right requirements of the law, and therefore the lower court was sustained and the election held to be valid. This fact was brought out in the lengthy dissenting opinion of Judge Bul-lette, who said:

"The opinion in the case under review to decide and settle a question of law entirely unnecessary to the decision of the case, for the facts upon which that question might have arisen are found not to exist. The question was argued only on behalf of the side in whose favor it has been decided.
The decision of that question is stated in language so broad, not to say vague, that for that reason, if for no other, I should be unwilling to assent to it. But the principle set forth is so far-reaching and so fraught with danger to the rights of the citizen, that I am compelled to express my dissent from it, though I concur in the decision of the questions which are necessary to decide the case before us."

The unnecessary part of the decision is, briefly stated, that all the provisions of the statute necessary to the absolute secrecy of the ballot are mandatory for all purposes, that all ballots which do not conform substantially to the requirements of the statute, are or are not in every respect, secret, are invalid, without reference to the question whether the voter was at fault, or whether he had power to prevent the irregularity.
This doctrine, carried to its logical conclusion, renders the constitutional guaranty of free elections a delusion, and the right of suffrage a mockery, for the right to vote is nothing if the vote when cast may be disregarded."

Judge Bullette explains he did not hear the argument and did not have time to investigate the case. He says, however: "It seems to me unnecessary to now decide as to the effect upon election where ballots used are not substantially such as are required by the statutes."

Lawyers are generally commenting on the statement in the Courier-Journal Sunday to the effect that it published in full the opinion of Judge Paynter. As a matter of fact, it gave Judge Paynter's discussion of a hypothetical case.

The reader is left under the impression that the election had been declared void on the grounds of thin ballots. One has to refer to the dissenting opinion of Judge Bullette—which the Courier-Journal did not publish—to learn that the court unanimously sustained the validity of the election.

IMMENSE LAW PRACTICE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—From all accounts which are received here, ex-Secretary Carlisle is accumulating an immense law practice in New York. He has had a number of cases before the supreme court. He was here last week on one of paramount importance, and has several more on the docket to be heard this month.
The last case which he argued before the court was one involving the constitutionality of the legacy tax in the war revenue bill.

TUESDAY, DEC. 12, 1909.

The Kentucky court of appeals should be reformed the court of politicians.

It has been Governor Taylor, thanks to the honest voters of the state, since today high noon.

The majority which defeated Goebel and his gang on the 7th of November will be in the saddle again next November, if the boss wants it that way.

If the election of the 7th of Nov.

could be held over again and be conducted by honest officials (General Taylor would easily defeat Mr. Goebel by a vote of 30,000.

The legislature is responsible to the people for the early and complete investment of Goebelism. And the patch carriage cannot be put out of sight a day too soon, for it smells to heaven.

The Sun's congratulations and best wishes are with the state's new governor, W. S. Taylor. And this is to you, governor, and may you live long to do much good and to keep the scales out of the high places.

In Europe widespread comment on the brilliant speech for an alliance between the United States, Britain and Germany continues. The general trend of opinion is that the British ambassador made a serious blunder, though the steel sword is yet to be sharpened.

Col. James made one speech in Frankfort for June 1908 and then he left for home. There are two more speeches one that he will have to see if the noise he made by his following really disturbed the sick in Marion and the other is that he left the capital to get rid of an incontinent population of 100,000. At home, this is certain.

The statement that the militia infringed the people of Louisville last election day is a reflection which the people of the metropolis should reject in no weak way. A handful of adversaries would have not lasted ten seconds in the metropolis, and the re-fection in the statement is therefore a reflection alike on the grit of the people as well as on their fairness at elections.

Since Judge Hargis made his speech before the state election board his friends even have quit saying he is a good speaker and lawyer. Why Point, who had sense enough to say he was no lawyer, discredited the judge in a few minutes by saying that he was not a lawyer, but a politician, and that he was a politician, and that he was a politician, and that he was a politician, and that he was a politician, and that he was a politician, and

fact all stake holders should be wise enough to decide on a bold stake.

Should Goebel win in any subsequent contest the losers could with much more reason and justice refuse to give up their money than can the losers at present.

Of course Judge Pryor and Mr. Ellis will resign from the state election board. They have each professed the case so far as their opinions are concerned, while Point has gone further and done worse, if such a thing be possible. The fact is the entire board is in bad repute and could not with any honor at all sit in judgment on a contest and should resign.

This will leave the selection of an other board to the legislature, with certainly no prospects of making the job worse than it is now.

A false impression has been sent throughout the state by the Goebelin papers. The Sun refers to the anouncement that the court of appeals decided the local option contest as void, because of the character of the judges. The facts are the court declined the ballot keeping with the requirements and therefore legal and on other points was unanimous in its opinion that the election was valid.

The first announcement was made for political purpose and maliciously of course.

The good people of Louisville without regard to party affiliations will hold a public meeting Wednesday evening to "protest against the lies and misrepresentations about the election" in that city on the 7th of Nov. A call has been circulated, and signed by many of the best merchants, lawyers, doctors, artisans, etc., of the metropolis and when they meet the facts will be declared in no misleading language. The people are sore over the misrepresentation of the so-called Democratic press of the place, and the authors will be stood up before the public in their proper light.

The meeting will no doubt be an interesting one from start to finish.

When the proposed contest before the state canvassing board is begun the Democrats are going to have their eyes opened more than ever. What is safer for the cause will be made gravy for the gutter, and the election examination will not be conducted only to Louisville and some counties where alleged issue ballots were used, but to Covington, Graves, Ballard and Mcracken counties, where voters were about the polls and transparent ballot used and no kick made. The investigation in other respects won't be so one-sided as some think, and the winning won't be done by Republicans. There are always two sides to every question.

Gov. Bradley, who has the ability to weld a caustic pen and who never hesitates to do so when opportunity offers, is out in a card explaining why he called out troops in Louisville and Covington election day and why they were needed. His statement is a convincing and truthful one—being in all respects supported by reason and the facts well known in the two cities—and he fully justifies his position. But the governor goes farther and establishes that he has affidavits, made by the best people of each place, certifying that the civil authorities of the places were either particularly in or unable to check disorders existing and threatened. The card is particularly an answer to the de-

CITY COUNCIL

City Marshal Will Be in Absolute Control of the Police.

New Ordinances Passed—Street

Improvements Received By the Council Last Night.

The council met last night in called session, Mayor Lang in the chair and all the members present.

The mayor's call was read by Clerk

Flaher.

Chairman Davis, of the ordinance committee, read an ordinance prescribing additional duties for the city marshal, making him chief of the police, creating the office of captain of police, having direct charge of all police officers, and creating the office of lieutenant of police, whose duties shall be to patrol all beats horseback, the salary of the captain and lieutenant being $85 per month each. This ordinance adds the office of chief to marshal.

The two new officers are to be appointed by the mayor, subject to the ratification of the council.

The new ordinance places marshal Collins as it gives him still more power over the police.

An ordinance requiring all cases of contagious diseases to be reported to the health officer, who shall see that such cases are removed to the pest house, and to take all proper quarantine measures, disinfect all premises, the city to furnish all material, the cost of such fumigation not to exceed $3 per house was read. A penalty of $5 for each offense is attached. The ordinance was given first passage.

The ordinance fixing the salary of the city engineer was read.

It was moved by Mr. Davis to place it at $1200. Mr. Elliott wanted to amend by fixing it at $1000. He said the police wanted a raise in salary, and the salary was formerly $1000.

The salary was fixed at $1200. The ordinance was then given first passage. The assistant engineer's office ceases to exist the first of the year.

The report accepting the grading and graveling of Caldwell street from Eleventh to Twelfth, by G. F.

Stuckney, contractor, and showing

Great Play at Morton's Next Friday Evening, Dec. 15.

The adherents of the "Real Widow Brown" are legion, and you will be one of them if you witness this genuinely agreeable musical comedy at Morton's opera house Friday evening.

The story is completely told and humorously developed and leads up to situations and changes that are both novel as well as entirely funny. The company is one of the best presenting this style of entertainment, and the costumes are exquisite. Many pleasing specialties are introduced.

WARRANTS WILL BE ISSUED.

Revenue Collector Robert Hapley will return to Paducah in a few days, and secure out warrants against all those who have failed to place revenue stamps on their wagon bonds now in the city clerk's office. The merchants have been notified, and those who fail to attend to it at once are liable to be fined heavily. Mayor Lang does not desire any one to suffer for the negligence, and thinks that to pay the fifty cents for a stamp is preferable to paying a $50 fine.

COAL BUSINESS.

Dealers Can Sell Anything, Just as It Comes From a Mine.

The coal mine owners in Kentucky say that there was never known such a demand for coal. They can scarcely secure enough cars to do their hauling.

Where formerly they had to screen coal and have it in different grades to suit the purchaser they now sell it in any quantity to the dealers un-screened, just as taken from the mine. The dealers take it in any shape, so great is the demand for the black diamond. There was never known such a rush before.

THE HORSE ANSWERED.

A Novel Ceremony Performed at Bardwell Monday.

Miss Minnie Haworth and W. W. Vance, both of Ardmore, were married at Bardwell by the Rev. H. F. Hyde. They were sitting in a buggy while the ceremony was performed, and the preacher was saying to the young woman: "Will you love, honor and obey this man?" and when he got to the "obey" part, the old horse bawled out, which caused laughter from the witnesses and almost caused a suspension of the ceremony.

ADMITTED TO POOR FARM.

Young Man Who Got Sick in the County Jail Placed.

A young man named Walter M. Grayson was this morning sent to the poor farm by County Judge Tully. He was recently in the city hospital and it seems was not able to travel when discharged. He got as far as the home of Mr. F. M. Hill, of near Laurel, and there succumbed, and had to be taken to Mr. Hill or left to die.

He was carried for and finally brought to the city today and admitted to the poor farm.

BECOME HIGHWAYMEN.

George Bonnis was indicted this morning for the grand jury for "house" breaking. He is a diminutive boy about ten years of age who has the reputation of being one of the worst criminals in this locality. He has served all manner of sentences for larceny, and was arrested some time ago for breaking into the market house and stealing an overcoat. There was no evidence against him at the time and he was allowed to go. Evidence afterwards developed, however, and he was today indicted.

This morning he had a boy named John Holliman, who was walking along near Fourth and Clark streets, when they came across George. The latter says that he was out with his gun, and the other two boys commanded him to halt. Bonnis took out a knife and threatened to cut him into shreds if he didn't give up the gun, and Fitch did so. He was then made to give up the shot also.

The two boys with their booty left and at last accounts were on their way to the woods with the air gun. Fitch immediately telephoned Judge Sanders and swore out a warrant against the boys for robbery, and they were taken to the county jail as soon as they were located.

The police expect trouble in finding them, however, as they are scarcely over at home.

A CLOSE CALL.

Mr. John J. Hiehn, the jeweler, is congratulating himself today that his assistant was not killed, or hurt, with his car, which he had been carried away by a covetous servant girl. The girl is white and came here from Metropolis. She was given employment and a good home, and was apparently satisfied. The actions were suspicious, however, and last night Mr. Hiehn found that she had taken a large quantity of his wife's and daughter's clothing, and a large quantity of jewelry.

She had packed in her trunk over $500 worth of clothing and jewelry. The goods were recovered and the girl was discharged, but will not be prosecuted, and her fate is probably for away from Paducah.
